Child struck by car

Five year old Sabrina Johnson of 698 1/2 S.W. Fifth St. was still in critical condition Wednesday morning after being struck at 7:35 a.m. Tuesday by a car driven by Rose Langston Brown, 24, of 340 N.W. 11th St. on Northwest Avenue D behind the Kentucky Fried Chicken facility. The child receives emergency medical treatment from Belle Glade EMTs Warren Street and Mike Gressinger at the scene (above) shortly after the accident. Belle Glade Police Lt. Michael Miller said the girl was walking to Belle Glade Elementary School to take part in a breakfast program when she was struck. After being taken to Glades General Hospital, the child was helicoptered to St. Mary's Hospital in West Palm Beach. Miller said Ms. Brown was charged with reckless driving.

Low pay means low morale as several police officers quit

When they approve the city budget for the coming year tonight, as they must, the Belle Glade City Commissioners will have come to a decision problem which could affect the police protection and services in the city.

Over the past six weeks, eight front-line officers, representing 50 years experience, have resigned from the department, most of them because of their pay. There are also rumors that several more are contemplating resignations.

The problem is that while the officers aren't getting paid as much as most other municipalities in Palm Beach County, with at least one city paying a dollar more an hour, the city is faced with a budget with very little fat in any area which could be trimmed to allow more lean anywhere else.

However they handle the situation, and as of press time, there was no indication on whether the city would accept or reject the requested 12 per cent pay hike for police officers, a decision will have been made and the city will have to live with it.

Police Chief Charles Goodlett said the $4.49 per hour starting wages for Belle Glade officers compares poorly with the $5 being paid by Pahokee and even poorer with the $5.48 being paid beginning patrolmen in Boca Raton.

"I'm not going to say all eight officers quit because of the pay," Goodlett said. "Some of them gave reasons such as, 'due to circumstances beyond my control,' but the real reason could have been their pay."

Goodlett pointed out that while the budgeted strength of the department is 58 employees, those 58 include jailers, clerks, secretaries and Identification Bureau men as well as patrolmen.

"We had four shifts made up of five men and a sergeant each, plus three walking men," he said. "These men are in on every case we have. They're our front line officers who get in on every complaint first and all eight of the resignations came from these 27 positions."

He said the resignations have resulted in the elimination of the officers who were walking beats in the commercial sections of the city. By using overtime, he said none of the other services have been curtailed yet but if more resignations come before he can hire replacements, there may be a need to eliminate some of the services.

"We haven't had any resignations from the other sections, like the ID men or the detectives," he said, "but we could be surprised. I've already been surprised by some of the resignations."

"We lost some damn fine officers," Deputy Chief D. Bill Mathis said, agreeing with Goodlett.

Mathis and Goodlett pointed out another problem in comparing the Belle Glade police department with other cities of comparable size.

"We handled more than 47,000 complaints last year," Mathis said. "Break that down and it means that every officer handled 2,000 cases on an average. That comes out to 40 cases a week."

Goodlett explained what that means when he said that officers in most cities are usually relieved from other duties during their tour of duty after a complaint so they can complete the paperwork.

He said he has often seen Belle Glade patrolmen with five or six complaints they still had to make out reports on at the end of their shifts. That means the officer may be required to stay as many as four hours past his normal quitting time just to complete the paperwork.

An idea of how hard the problem will be to unravel enough to satisfy everyone can be gotten when it is realized that the city spends slightly more on police salaries than it takes in by ad valorem taxes.

Whether the commission can come up with a compromise suitable to everyone involved may not be answered until tonight, although they may have made a tentative decision during a budget session which was scheduled for Wednesday afternoon.

Herald Editorial

Vote is unfair

The results of the second primary Tuesday should convince anyone.

With the attitude of the courts being what it is today, there is only one way to assure ourselves of representation and a fair shake on the county commission and the school board.

A person running for office in a given district should be voted for within that district, not countywide. Had that been the case Tuesday, the look of the general election would have been entirely different.

And sooner or later, that same lesson is going to be brought home to residents of other areas of the county.

There is no good reason why, when the people in district five have chosen a representative overwhelmingly, that that decision should be reversed by a heavy block vote in the retirement condominium communities on the coast.

There is only one saving grace in the results of that election. With any kind of luck, the people in the Glades might wake up to the fact they're going to have to throw all their support behind the only other Glades candidate left on Nov. 2.

By the same token, if representation means anything, the election could also mean those same voters may get behind the Glades candidate in the District Five School Board race on Nov. 2 and just might kick off a campaign to elect district representatives from only within the district.

Votes for Bill Bailey and Susan Barton on Nov. 2 are the short term answers to the discrepancy but only district voting will insure an equitable solution over the long haul.

One thing's for sure. If the coastal candidates get ensconced as our "representatives," they won't agitate for the reform we need.

but coast nullifies vote

Glades goes for representation

If Glades voters generally went along with the rest of Palm Beach County in the first primary, there was a decided difference in the second primary Tuesday as they turned out in much heavier numbers than county-wide.

With 53 per cent of the Glades voters turning out, compared to some 35 per cent around the county, votes in the Belle Glade, South Bay and Lake Harbor areas ran contrary to the rest of the county in the school millage referendums and in three of the hotly contested partisan races in the county.

The most glaring difference in the results came, naturally enough, in the race which affected the Glades the most. In the district she will represent if she wins Nov. 2, Mrs. E. L. "Betty" Jordan won 418 votes to Oscar Shackelford's 2,036, only 17 per cent of those voting in the race and less than 12 per cent of the total number who voted.

Mrs. Jordan, who rented an apartment in Pahokee the day after she qualified to run in the race, will face former Belle Glade Commissioner and Mayor Bill Bailey in the Nov. 2 general election. Countywide, she defeated Shackelford by a margin of more than 2,000 votes.

The Glades voters also disagreed with the county as a whole in the District One County Commission race, choosing James "Bucky" McGann over Mrs. Peggy Evtatt by a vote of 1,201 to 855. They went along with the coastal voters in the District Three race however, going for Dennis P. Koehler by 339 votes to Joe DeMarco's 458.

In the sheriff's race, the Glades also disagreed with the rest of the county by voting heavily for incumbent William R. Heidman over Richard P. Wills in the Republican runoff by a score of 367-144.

Throughout the 12 precincts in western Palm Beach County, Richard Lopez won out over Boone Darden by a margin of 1,581 to 1,352. In the Belle Glade-South Bay-Lake Harbor area, however, the vote went the other way, with Darden taking the decision 1,091 to 1,040.

Voters in the Glades also disagreed with the rest of the county by voting down the millage levies requested by the school board. The one mill increase was voted down, 965-759 and the 0.6 mill increase, which will go to air condition the schools in the county, was voted down in the Glades by 961 to 688. Both measures passed in the countywide balloting.

Glades voters agreed with countywide voters in the three non-partisan races on the ballot, electing Frederick B. Karl to the Floridian Supreme Court over Charles R. Holley, 567-478; James C. Dausch Jr. to the Fourth District Court of Appeals over Carroll S. Barco, 613-307 and C. Michael Shalloway to the County Court Group Seven over Charles L. Brown by the slim margin of 523-524.

Trucks barred from road

Under pressure from approximately 40 residents of Whitaker Road, the Belle Glade City Commission decided Monday that contractor Res. Steele would have to find another way to deliver fill rock to a building site at the far end of the dead-end road.

Darryl Mathis of 917 Whitaker, spokesman for the group, told the commissioners that dump trucks delivering the fill have made living conditions along the residential street difficult.

He said the trucks churn the streets into inches-deep mounds of mud in rainy weather and create a pall of dust in dry weather. He said the dust doesn't allow laundry to be hung out to dry, has damaged the finish on houses along the street and has resulted in several people being required to receive medical treatment.

The commissioners instructed Police Chief Charles Goodlett to post signs prohibiting dump trucks to use the street, except to serve residents there, to notify Steele and the truckers about the prohibition and to get together with Steele to find an alternate route of delivery.

City Attorney John Baker also suggested that a group be formed to study this same type of problem wherever it exists in the city.

In another area, the commission also discussed a number of possible plans to require businesses along Avenue A to clean up their establishments as well as repair sidewalks, drainage and make sure the streets can be swept on a regular basis.

Among the solutions was a directive to Goodlett to "reactivate parking meters along Avenue A, with the possibility of extending the use of meters along to West Avenue B.

In other action, the commission agreed to rent the Lake Shore Civic Center to the Palm Beach County Community Action Council for 30 days to be used as a temporary home for the OAC headstart program.

Commissioner Kenneth Harris told OAC Director Maude Lee he would find someone else to pay half the $7.50 per day rent.

She's Miami bound

"Sugar and spice and everything nice," the old rhyme goes, is what little girls are made of but there's a number of little boys in Belle Glade and Miami who'll add a fine punting toe to the recipe.

Melanie Swager, the 11-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Swager of 241 N.W. Ninth St. made believers of 'em all when she passed, punting and booted a football far enough to win the Punt, Pass & Kick competition in Belle Glade and the Zone B group in Miami.

Melanie outscored seven boys in the 11-year old category of the annual contest sponsored two weeks ago by Watson Ford and then went on to do a repeat performance against ten boys in Miami Saturday.

And the Zone B competition took place in a driving rain that sent some of the boys sprawling in slipping and sliding efforts to get a toe into the pigskin.

As winner of Zone B, Melanie established her supremacy in punting, passing and placekicking the football over the best 11-year olds in Palm Beach, Broward, Hendry and Glades Counties.

This Saturday, she will make a return trip to meet the winner of the Zone A dealership, who represents Dade County and the keys. If she wins Saturday, she'll go up against the winner between Zones C and D in the Orange Bowl during the halftime show of the Miami-Dolphins-Kansas City Chiefs game on Oct. 17.

In each case, she'll be in a head-on competition against one other competitor in her own age group. If she wins both of those confrontations, she'll be representing the Miami Dolphins in the American Football Conference Division showdown in Pittsburgh on Dec. 11. The only step after that is the national competition during the Pro Bowl.

Melanie said she practiced some for the local competition during the summer. (She won second place in the ten-year old category last year.) She said she has also practiced the two weeks between the Belle Glade and the Miami events.

She said she hasn't heard all that much talk about her feat at Glades Day School, where she is in the sixth grade and that "it feels funny" to be the winner so far.

Reorganizational meeting delayed

In the midst of increasing city clearances that the Belle Glade City Commission could get the necessary votes necessary to the reorganizational meeting for the city manager, the annual reorganizational meeting has been postponed until Oct. 11.

Present Mayor William T. Altman, who was elected two weeks ago to his second two-year term, have both said they'd like the position for the coming year.

There is strong reason to believe, however, that neither Grear nor Altman could get the three votes needed at this time and that the only one who could probably master the required votes is Commissioner Ralph Kirk, who was re-elected last week to his fourth term.

Kirk said the night he was elected that he didn't want to become mayor and that he would like to see Altman receive the job. Kirk is the senior commissioner who has not held the post.

Grear was elected mayor on a split vote last year when he was elected to his fourth term. That was his first time in the slot.

Neither Commissioner Aubrey Farn, who was mayor for two years before Grear, nor Commissioner first-term Kenneth Harris have openly indicated interest in the job.

The reorganizational meeting was scheduled to be the first item on the agenda Monday night in the last regular meeting of the fiscal year but Grear delayed action on it at that time.

The commissioner announced during a public hearing Tuesday night they would reorganize the first meeting in October.

Also to be named during the reorganizational meeting are the city manager, with no real contenders at this time, the city attorney, the city treasurer, the judge and additum of the municipal court, the prosecuting attorney and the public defender.

The judge, judges additum and public defender may all be appointed on a temporary basis since the municipal courts throughout the state will be phased out Jan. 3 of next year.

City Attorney John Baker said that it was his opinion, despite the contrary opinion of Palm Beach County State Attorney David Bludworth, that the city can still maintain its own prosecuting attorney. He said it would be up to the commission to decide whether or not to do so.

Two other problems concerning the change over which came up during a meeting Friday at the County Office Building on US41 involve arrest warrants and whether the city will maintain its jail.

Bludworth is making a concerted effort to get the city to agree to keep up the jail but the commission has gone on record as intending to close it once the municipal court duties are taken over by the county.

One of the reasons given is that Bludworth has indicated he will prosecute all non-traffic cases as violations of state statutes, rather than city ordinances, where possible, which would mean that all fines and forfeitures now used by the city to help pay for the upkeep of the jail would go to the state.

KAREN'S KORNER by karen hansford

Okay, Gentlemen, now that we have heard countless predictions from Jimmy the Greek and other foreseers it is now time to look at it from a female admirer's point of view. Can you imagine who would be tops in the professional football league if the ratings went according to players' appearances?

In the eastern division of the National Conference, the New York Giants have first place sewed up just for publicity if nothing else for their acquisition of none other than Larry Csonka, that famed Hungarian running back who deserted the Miami Dolphins not for fame and glory, but those little dollar signs running in his head. Nevertheless, he is still popular among fans, males and females alike and will lead the Giants to home.

Dallas will come in second with "Golden" Richards there. What a hunk of man! Minnesota will take the Central division without any problem. Fran Tarkenton is an exciting, scrambling quarterback who is good for a clutch play when things get tough. Besides, the other teams don't provide much competition. Chicago and Detroit are two mediocre teams who plug away each year and the Green Bay Packers are surviving on legend, barely. If only Bart Starr was younger - and had all his hair.

The National Conference western division proves a little more difficult. I've always like California guys and San Francisco and Los Angeles are hanging in there, but since I have about as much chance at meeting them as the "man on the moon," I'm going with Atlanta to win the division. Yes, suh, once a Rebel always a Rebel. The South will rise again!

And now the American Conference. In the western division I'm going for the Oakland Raiders, although I'll never forgive them for what they did to George Blonda. But since I am partial to left-handers (lefty power), and the new kicker is young, blonde and good looking, go Oakland!

I'll have to go with the Cincinnati Bengals in the central division as we have "snuck" another southpaw in there and he's been helping to pave the way to the day we lefties take over. Also, if you watch closely, there are quite a few cute guys wandering around. Besides, Pittsburgh has been in the limelight for too long now, it's time someone knocked them out.

Last but not least, the eastern division. Oh my, who to choose here - do I prefer Joe Namath, panty-hose, popcorn popper and all or Bob Griese with his stacks wardrobe and milk. Since Joey never answered my love letters I'm gonna stick with Miami. After all, I have a better chance of meeting a Dolphin than a Jet. Didn't I talk to Don Shula in Cleveland one night? And if he can come to Cleveland, surely some of those nice, sweet, handsome, rich players can swing by Belle Glade, huh? Since New England got rid of that nice looking guy who threw the ball all the time, they're not that interesting and Baltimore, well they haven't been the same since Unites left. As to the playoff picture, Miami will win the American Conference and the New York Giants, with Csonka up front, will take the National Conference. But even Larry's popularity and charm won't help the Giants as the Dolphins, with more talent, will prevail.

Now, if standings went according to looks, that's my book.

Run, Raider, run

The Glades Central-Dillard game Saturday night wasn't all bad news for the Raiders. They were more coordinated as a team than in either of the first two games and the offensive line was much improved, allowing bruising runs through the middle such as the one above.

Officials, Dillard hand Raiders third loss, 28-14

The Fort Lauderdale Dillard Panthers combined 18 yards of their own with an "official" drive of 72 yards in the fourth quarter Friday to hand the Raiders their third loss of the season before an irate home crowd.

The drive followed a Glades Central touchdown which put the Raiders ahead, 14-12. That TD was set up when linebacker

The TD set up by that 79-yard scamper changed the lead the third time that night, apparently for the last time. The officials placed the ball on the Dillard 10-yard line following the kickoff and although the Panthers were able to move the ball out to their own 25, their drive faltered there when three passes failed to connect for a single yard more.

That was when the "official" drive began. On third-and-ten at the Dillard 25, the Raiders were assessed a 15-yard personal foul penalty. Two more 15-yarders were marched off against Glades Central on the next two plays, both of which resulted in zero gain by the Panthers.

After 45 yards had been given the Panthers by the officials on consecutive plays, the Dillard quarterback again went to the air in still another pass that failed. On second down and ten, the officials got into the act again after the Dillard quarterback made still another pass, this one picked off by linebacker Phillip Stinson in a play which again apparently ended Dillard hopes of a comeback.

That interception was ruled no good and the Panthers were assessed another penalty. The official explanation was that the quarterback had been speared by a Raider defender before he had passed the ball.

Two plays later, Dillard had managed to pick up five yards and were on the Raider 10 when the Raiders apparently recovered a fumble. The officials ruled that fumble recovery no good and handed the Raiders still another penalty, giving the Panthers a first and ten situation on the Raider five.

McGraw, the Dillard quarterback, carried the ball into the end zone on the play from where a clipping penalty annulled the score and set the ball back on the Raider 18 yard line. 15 yards from where the infraction occurred on the Glades Central three.

After that, a run netted four yards to the 14, a pass failed and still another penalty took the ball to the Raider seven. Two plays later, Dillard managed to put the ball into the end zone. A two-point conversion pass was good and the Panthers went ahead, 20-14.

In the spirit

An example of the new offensive spirit of the Glades Central Raiders was shown Saturday night as Ollie Sheppard decked a Dillard Panther in a block that sprang the Raider running back free for more yardage than expected.

Gators bow to Mooney 41-0

The Glades Day School Gators fell victim Friday night to a sizzling aerial attack defeated the local Class A school, 41-0.

The Gators managed to move the football inside the Mooney 13-yard line on four occasions, and were inside the 25 on another occasion but critical turnovers kept them from scoring against the Class 2A school.

Following the lead of Mitch Crissman, who carried 17 times for 103 yards, the Gators outstruck Mooney 163 to 85 yards and Jorge Echave completed five of 12 passes for another 72 yards. But when the Saragosa coach continually shuffled Mike Duncan and Jim Weaver in and out at the quarterback position to run up a total of 291 yards in the air. In their own aerial attack, Echave connected with Danny Kirkman twice for 47 yards and twice more with Dick Creekert for 21 yards.

Delicately, Larry Fowler had a field day as he made four tackles and assisted on three more, made one interception and recovered a fumble.

Crissman made six tackles and three assists and Kirkman and Tommy Duda each made six tackles and two assists.

The Gators were penalized a total of 105 yards in the game compared to 76 yards in penalties assessed against Mooney. The Gators lost three fumbles and Mooney lost two.

Former GCHS star named Big Eight Back of Week

Former Glades Central standout quarterback Wayne Stanley continued burning up Big Eight football fields last week as he passed 111 yards for two touchdowns and ran for another one Saturday to lead the Iowa State Cyclones in a 10-7 win over Kent State of Ohio.

hacked the first Raider state championship team when he was a senior in 1971-72, is also leading the league in total offense and only needs two more touchdowns to tie the school career record of 25 TDs.

During the Cyclones' first three games, against Drake, Air Force and Kent State, Stanley has played 53 quarters to complete 19 of 28 passes, good for 410 yards, ten touchdowns and no interceptions.

During the Kent State game, he also ran in another TD from seven yards out. To make that record even more impressive, Williamson said Stanley has directed his attack from behind "a young small line," made up of a 202-pound sophomore center who hasn't played varsity ball before this year; two seniors weighing 240 and 270 pounds at guard and two more sophomores, one with no and one with little Cyclone staff member Rod Williamson said Stanley was named Big Eight Offensive Player of the Week for his effort against Air Force two weeks ago.

Stanley may have set the trend for that honor since his teammate, Ray Hardee of Mulberry became the second Floridian on the team to win the same honor this week.

Hardee, one of Stanley's receivers, only managed to pick off two passes and scamper for two touchdowns against Kent State.

Pot Likker

by R. D. Santee

You can have your Buckley's, Reston's, Anderson's, Rowan's and such other well known columnists as you may care to mention. For, while they profess to know Washington inside out, they can see only as far as their noses when compared to Uncle Taft Clingenpoole. (He is of no blood relation. It just seems to be the thing to call someone who is not kindred "uncle" if they're over eighty).

Uncle Taft has a propensity for getting to the heart of a matter and explaining his views on the same in a uniquely simple yet occasionally flamboyant style.

On the present Presidential campaign Uncle Taft says he... "listens to the fellers talk and counts how many times they say the word 'give'. Now if they're gonna 'give somethin' to somebody then they're gonna take somethin' away from somebody else. Usually it's me," he says "so I vote for the man that says 'give' the least."

On education he says "If I was parents, I'd jump down some teachers throats and gallop their insides out. They're so busy tryin' to be what you call 'socially conscious' that they're turnin' out students that are socially defective. Before long we'll be havin' illiterate teachers tryin' to teach illiterate youngin's how to be twice as illiterate as they are."

Regarding the Federal Bureau-cracy he says: "You got so dang many people workin' for the gov'mint nowadays that the only way to get any attention is to do somethin' ridiculous. Like some E.P.A. feller tellin' some body to quit 'breathin' 'cause his carbon dioxide output is too heavy. The President will take notice and say 'well, I don't know what he's doin' but I sure have took notice of 'im."

That's encouraging

In the "What'd he say?" department: Palm Beach County Commission Chairman recently "encouraged" political candidates to comply with county ordinances by removing election signs from within public rights of way. Which is a good move, we guess, but is that all? Only "encouraged"?

Seems to us that if there's an ordinance on the books against decorating the roadsides with "Vote for me!" posters, all that would be necessary would be to remove them as fast as they're put up with a nice little fine to be paid out of the candidate's campaign fund...or out of his own pocket.

Of course that's working on the assumption the ordinances were written with the goal they ought to be complied with, and that may be a faulty premise when it comes to election laws.

Another possibility would be a state law forbidding any elected official to take office until after he has removed every one of his election signs, with the provision that anybody not elected would have two weeks in which to take down all his signs.

The alternative would be for him to pay a $250 fine plus the cost of removing said signs.

Nice pipe dream but it isn't apt to happen since the law would have to be passed by elected officials, who might be busted under it after the next election.

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

I noticed by the mail this week my favorite festival is about to take place again when the San Antonio (that's Florida, not Texas) Jaycees put on their annual Rattlesnake Festival and International Championship Gopher Race on Oct. 16.

Maybe one of these days, I'll get around to attending.

The happening, for those unfamiliar with the doings in San Antonio (and one of these days, I'm going to find out where the heck it's located), include everything from hot dogs to hot air balloons but center around rattlesnake catching and gopher racing.

I suppose the basic reasons I've never gotten directly involved is because I'm not worth a darn at training gophers to run 50 yards and I have a healthy respect for rattlesnakes which induces hysteria on sight.

Through superb control, that hysteria was reduced once to calmness. The guys who were with me said later I was in catatonic paralysis but I guess that's calm if anything is. At least I wasn't screaming.

And so far as the gopher race is concerned, when I can come up with one which can break the world-champion mark set by the gopher owned by Barbara Osceola of 26.8 seconds for the 50-yard track a few years ago, I may get involved, but not until then.

Some people may think that's a coward's way of admitting he's a male chauvinist by avoiding competition with a woman. Personally, I look at it as simply a way of avoiding becoming a loser in still another category.

Besides, who needs to get into it with a smart aleck female?

Speaking of competition, how about that Glades Central - Dillard game Friday night? I guess the Raiders still have room for improvement.

They were good enough to beat 11 Dillard players on the field at any one time but they still have a ways to go before they can beat the four officials.

I understand one of the Raiders had to apologize to one of the officials after the game when he congratulated the ref on a good game.

I thought that was rather strange since the refs did call a good game. Heck, they couldn't have stuck it to the Glades Central boys any better if they'd been trying.

Anytime four men on the field can move the ball 72 yards in a handful of plays against 11 guys, that's going some.

Yeah, I thought the officials did a fantastic job. I don't know how many yards the Raiders gained in rushing but I doubt they managed to get 177 yards. That's how many the zebra-shirts racked up against the home team.

To be fair though, the Panthers did manage to move the ball 18 yards on that drive, so the 72 yards the officials made wasn't entirely responsible for the score on that one drive.

It was probably pure coincidence that 60 yards of the "official" drive came in five plays in which the Panthers weren't able to move the ball an inch...and when they and the officials were trailing by a score of 14-12.

It was probably also pure coincidence that when the Raiders lost their first game, against North Shore, it was on a critical call that went against them, which just happened to be called by the same team of officials.

Had to be coincidence. Everyone in the Glades knows how fair the officials in Palm Beach County are.

Social Chatter

By Maude Vereen

The Rev. Charles Robinson has just returned from the South Florida Eleventh Episcopal Annual Conference where, for a whole week, each minister is sure just where he will be pastoring for the coming year.

The bishop did make some changes in this area but sent back to Mt. Zion A.M.E. Church in Belle Glade a minister by the name of Rev. Charles Robinson. If you haven't heard him preach, then I suggest that you mark your calendar to hear him for we understand that he is a great preacher.

Mrs. Hattie Bain carried some of the young people to the Youth Session which was held on Saturday and at the same time some of the young people were dedicated to the Raider.

This annual conference was held in West Hollywood.

As I write this, I'm hoping you have already been to the polls to vote. If you didn't, remember you still have time to register for the November election.

The school crossing guards asked the question: just how many children will get hit by a car before drivers realize that school is open and they need to drive carefully. Watch out! Be alert! and most important of all is to be concerned enough that you will see that only child that is not with a group rushing to or from school not paying any attention to what is coming.

We are told that some drivers are driving too fast and seem to be insulted if cautioned to slow down. If this sounds like you, check yourself before it is too late and you will be sorry.

The school crossing guards said to me, "We love these children and wish that other drivers would care too as if they were their own."

Heritage Dinner enjoyed by Xi Beta Gamma

Commemorating the bicentennial year, a Heritage Dinner was given at the home of Mrs. Mendal Luce, 801 NE First Street, Sept. 21, by Xi Beta Gamma Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi members.

The covered dishes represented the countries of origin of the members. Centering the table was a large map of Europe, and each person pinned a tag on the country once called "home" to his or her forefathers.

On the individual tables, orchid arrangements were featured. Each lady present received an orchid compliment of Milton Carpenter, internationally known local orchid grower.

Those enjoying the occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. Warren Battle, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Connell, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Drawdy, Mrs. Wm. Graber, Mr. and Mrs. Fred John, Mr. and Mrs. J. Eddie Jones, Mrs. Betty Kiddler, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lindrose, Mr. and Mrs. Turnbull, and Mrs. Ruth Wellworth, and the host and hostess, Dr. and Mrs. Mendal Luce.

Xi Beta Alpha holds meeting

Xi Beta Alpha chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held their first meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Alvaro Sanchez to make plans for the coming year and the upcoming social at Dr. and Mrs. Luis Guerrero's home. Both the meeting and the social carried out the theme of the year, "Follow the Rainbow" with table decorations and flowers. Delicious hors d'oeuvres were served at the buffet-cocktail party. Attending the social were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Crockett, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Cameron,

Mr. and Mrs. Diego Gimenez, Mr. and Mrs. Marland Chapman, Mrs. George Gartner, Mr. and Mrs. James Humphrey, Mr. and Mrs. Alvaro Sanchez, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Painter, Dr. and Mrs. Cecil Conley, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Miller, Dr. and Mrs. Donald Fiehs, Mrs. Bob White, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Harris and

Mrs. Enfinger selected Valentine Queen

Members of Xi Zeta Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met Monday at the

co-hostess for the meeting. The group discussed plans for the upcoming socials and service projects for the new year.

Mrs. Enfinger was chosen to represent the chapter as Valentine Queen. Her picture will be entered in the International Valentine Queen contest and the winner will be selected in the spring by a Hollywood personality.

Members attending were Mrs. Wayne Bair, Mrs. James Chamblee, Mrs. Gloria Corbin, Mrs. Bert Ward, and Mrs. Gloria Swager, Mrs. Vicki

Bridal luncheon for Miss Connell

A bridal luncheon was held for Donna Kay Connell Sept. 17 at the Belle Glade County Club by her aunts, Mrs. Cecil Moore of Orlando and Mrs. Frank Cochran of Belle Glade.

The luncheon was given for all her attendants at her home in Belle Glade. Burial was in the chapel at Forestview Memorial Gardens Cemetery in Belle Glade. Missions Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Dark stains on aluminum pans can be avoided if you add vinegar to the water before boiling eggs.

Legend has it the first cocktail was invented in 1776 in a New York bar decorated with chicken feathers.

STEVE CAMPORA [RIGHT] GIVES AWARD TO CHARLES SCHIELE
...on behalf of the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida for safety record

Co-op wins safety award

The Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida, Inc. was presented the annual Florida sugar industry's safety award during the Tenth Annual Florida Sugar-cane Safety Conference held last Wednesday in Clewiston.

The award, and the conference, are annually sponsored by the Florida Sugar Cane League, Inc. and the Division of Labor of the Florida Department of Commerce.

The award was presented to Cooperative Personnel and Public Relations Manager Charles Schiele by John Glenn, administrator for Industrial Safety for the division of labor.

Steve Campora, director of the division of safety for the state Department of Commerce, addressed the conference and stressed safety through training and education.

"Safety is an individual matter," Campora said, "but there need to be guidelines. Safety doesn't just happen. It has to be made to happen, most especially through programs and conferences such as this."

A presentation concerning noise in the work area was given by Lennon G. Adams Jr., director of Miami Hearing Conference, Inc. Adams discussed causes of hearing loss and problems relating to the prevention of hearing impairment.

Dr. Gary Erisman, coordinator of Health and Safety Information of the University of Florida Department of Agricultural Engineering and chairman of SACA (Standards Advisory Committee for Agriculture), discussed agricultural safety in the present and future.

"OSHA is not the total solution to the problems of agricultural safety," Erisman said. "No safety standards capable of being conceived by man can be as effective as those which employers and employees create by working together."

John B. Boy, president of both U.S. Sugar Corp. and the Florida Sugar Cane League, welcomed some 150 industry safety personnel to the conference, which was emceed by League Public Relations Director Don Walsh.

League Vice President and General Manager Nelson Fairbanks introduced the industry's new safety film, entitled "The Guilty Party." This was the film's first public showing.

Conference guests included Jay Greenberg, compliance officer of OSHA (Occupational Safety & Health Administration) and state division of labor representatives Norman Schmidt of Tampa, George

Irwin of Orlando, Howard Trout of Fort Myers and Ben Collier of Palm Beach County.

Glades Retarded Citizens Association organizing

The second organizational meeting for a local chapter of the Association for Retarded Citizens will take place at 8 p.m. Oct. 11 in the fellowship hall of St. John's Episcopal Church at 225 N.W. Ave. G in Belle Glade.

Two of the most important events of the evening will be the election of officers and the adoption of the constitution. The local chapter of the group should insure better services for retarded persons in the Glades area.

The Palm Beach County Association of Retarded Citizens operates a preschool center in Belle Glade for approximately 15 developmentally delayed children between the ages of six months and five years.

The newly formed chapter will take over the operation of this program. A future goal, according to coordinator Tricia Graves, is to expand this program to serve more children.

Miss Graves said the staff members who now work with the 15 currently enrolled children on a daily basis are Mrs. Betty Evans, supervising teacher, Mrs. Jackie Howard, Mrs. Mae Arnold and Mrs. Pat Walker.

These ladies work with the children on self-help skills such as dressing, toilet training and feeding. Activities to develop better muscle coordination and other activities to develop better eye-hand coordination are also a part of the curriculum. Other areas which are stressed are language development and social development.

The goals of the staff are to help each child develop to his or her highest potential. Often a child will reach a developmental level "normal" for his age and enter other pre-school programs. The other children enter public school special education programs when they become five years old.

Pre-school is especially important for children who have developmental problems. Miss Graves said. Recent studies have proven that half of what a person learns is acquired during those first five years of life.

"One of the problems in the Belle Glade area," she said, "is that there are no programs for children who reach school age but there is nothing else for the preschooler."

She said the center handles both children with severe learning disabilities and those borderline cases who need just a little help to catch up with other children their own age.

She also said those disabilities can range from a low intelligence quotient to a motor problem to cultural retardation.

The cost of operating this program is $37,500 annually. This includes hot lunches, snacks and free transportation. The hours of operation are from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday year round.

"In order to continue the program," Miss Graves said, "the support of the entire Glades community is needed. Forming a local chapter will provide the local people

At least 22 Glades area volunteers will meet to unite, kick off and announce the goal of the Glades Area United Way during a kickoff luncheon at noon today at the Holiday Inn in Belle Glade.

B. Carlton White, group manager of Southern Bell was recently named chairman of the Glades effort by Roger Strickland, district commercial manager of Southern Bell and President of the United Way of Palm Beach County.

As his co-chairman, White announced last week that Belle Glade optometrist Don Fiech would head the Belle Glade effort while Roy Burch, comptroller for Roy-af's, Inc. would chair the South Bay sub-committee and the Pahokee effort would be handled by Mrs. Janette Johnson.

White commented that this is the first time United Way has begun its drive in the Belle Glade with all-Glades area workers. He said local agencies receiving support from United Way include the Boy Scouts, Children's Home Society, Girl Scouts, Visiting Nurses-Homemakers, Retarded Citizens Association, American Red Cross and the "Y" Camp program.

He said his three co-chairmen have already asked a number of people to serve on the sub-committees and thereby be on the overall Glades Committee but other volunteers are also needed.

He said anyone wishing to participate in the drive is cordially invited to attend today's luncheon, whether or not they were personally invited.

Grady is running against incumbent Sen. Lawton Chiles.

The only person so far recruited to work in the South Bay area is Dale Stapp, manager of the Florida Power & Light Belle Glade office.

Belle Glade volunteers include Dr. Luis Guerrero, W. C. Taylor, Earl Meredith, Chuck Roessing, Dolly

Dole backs Dr. Grady

Belle Glade physician John Grady received an endorsement last week from Republican Vice-Presidential candidate, Robert Dole in Hollywood while Sen. Dole was accepting an award for his efforts on behalf of the handicapped.

St. Peter's saves tops

St. Peter's Lutheran School is starting a drive to collect Post cereal box tops in the Post program to provide sports equipment. "Some area organizations are also helping us in collecting the box tops," faculty member Victor Van Kanegans said, "and we would like to invite members and parents of St. Peter's, as well as any interested community groups, to participate in collecting them for and with us."

Van Kanegans said those interested in participating may send them or drop them off at the school at 601 W. Canal St. North. More information may be obtained by calling the school at 996-5656.

Hand, Lee Berryhill, Ben Clarke, Mary Orsenigo, William Schoenfeld and Cecil Conley.

In Pahokee, Mrs. Johnson has recruited Ada Bush, Wynona Cummings, Elmer Jones, Sandra McIntosh, Bruce Bowe, Peggy Snider and Faith Sasser.

Tuesday according to Mrs. Frank Dooley.

The clinic will be operating from 9 to noon every Tuesday, Mrs. Dooley said, to give free heart checkups to anyone who wishes them.

She and her co-volunteers will take the medical history of a person who wishes a checkup, then go on to administer an electrocardiogram, blood pressure and blood test and a urinalysis.

The test results then sent to Jacksonville, where physicians analyze them and the analysis is mailed back to the person's personal physician.

It is estimated the individual patient can save as much as $80 by having the tests run at the clinic and Mrs. Dooley said anyone may apply, not just those on welfare.

The complete test takes about 15 to 20 minutes and anyone wishing one may apply at the Palm Beach County Health Department by calling 996-5219.

City girl wins grant-in-aid at Furman U.

A Belle Glade woman was among 22 women who received athletic scholarships this year at Furman University in Greenville, S.C. as part of "an all-out effort to improve its women's athletic program."

Miss Diane Wedgworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wedgworth of East Canal Street North, won her scholarship in swimming, one of five such scholarships in the sport.

A junior this year, Miss Wedgworth earned her partial scholarship after beginning classes at Furman two years ago. She is one of the divers on the team, getting her start in the sport at Pine Crest School in Fort Lauderdale.

Furman's effort to improve the women's athletic program began last year with the employment of an athletic director, a sports information director and a graduate assistant to serve as the first woman trainer solely for women athletes. Scholarships have also been awarded to women this year in field hockey, golf, basketball and tennis.

Calico & denim

A workshop on home sewing will be held at 10 a.m. Oct. 13 at the Palm Beach County Office Building by the Extension Home Economics Agent, Mrs. Arlen C. Jones.

The workshop "Calico and Blue Denim" is designed to encourage homemakers to make wise use of their resources, according to Mrs. Jones, and to exercise money management practices during the upcoming holiday season.

Lookin for a job

Robert Sanders was the first person interviewed for the Belle Glade City Manager position the city commission is attempting to fill. Sanders is now city manager of Eagle, Col. and is a former Leon County Administrator.

GCI employees end course

Three employees of Glades Correctional Institute (GCI) were among the third group to complete the first part of their minimum standards curriculum in the Correctional Training Institute (CTI) at Rialto.

Ronnie Harris, James Larriss and Thomas Marchant each earned nine semester hours for completing the 160-hour course, in conjunction with Lake City Community College.

The program includes instruction in the Criminal Justice System, legal aspects of correction, operational procedures, principles of supervision, human relations and technical training skills which include firearms, first aid and fire fighting techniques.

The curriculum of training is designed to intensify the exposure of the officer and to develop him as a professional. It is anticipated that the training program will help realize the promise of a modern correctional system.

The participants will continue their training with an additional 160 hours of the local institution.

Farm Bureau claims a major congressional victory

GAINESVILLE—Walter Kautz, president of the Florida Farm Bureau Federation (FFBF), has claimed a major victory for his organization with congressional approval of the national inheritance tax reform FFBF has been pushing for since 1974.

Inheritance tax legislation part of the total tax reform bill passed by the House and Senate which congressional leaders have predicted Ford will sign before October 2, adjournment.

"Federal estate tax laws have remained unchanged since 1942 and the high level of inflation has forced many heirs to 'sell out' just to pay inheritance taxes," said Kautz.

Included in the new law is a tax credit equal to a $120,000 exemption by 1977 and $175,000 by 1981. The final provision will amend income tax law so that a person's property will be assessed at its value at the time of his death.

"We are very thankful to all Florida senators and representatives who voted for this reform," said Kautz. "They have the gratitude of both farmers and the general public."

marital deduction is increased to $250,000 or 50 per cent of the adjusted gross estate, whichever is larger. Farmland will be assessed at its agricultural value for estate tax purposes. Time will be extended for payment of estate taxes. In addition, taxes on generation-skipping trusts will be getting revisions. The bill's final provision will amend income tax law so that a person's property will be assessed at its value at the time of his death.

"We are very thankful to all Florida senators and representatives who voted for this reform," said Kautz. "They have the gratitude of both farmers and the general public."

amounts to a total of $4.56 per carton - well above what one would have to pay at a local retail store.

It's not a good buy, but many consumers fail to realize this until it's too late. What appeared to be a deal too good to be true turns out to be an expensive lesson.

If you receive offers like this one through the mail, send the correspondence to the Division of Beverage, Department of Business Regulation, 725 South Broadway Street, Tallahassee, Florida 32304.

QUESTION: I am interested in opening a small business and have heard that books are available from the Federal government on that topic. Can you give me that address.

ANSWER: The Small Business Administration has a booklet full of questions to ask yourself before you make any big moves. For your free copy of Checklist for Starting a Small Business write to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 48, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

It's hard to know when to use frozen food that's thawed. The only safe rule to follow is "When in doubt, throw it out," says Mrs. Arlen C. Jones, Extension Home Economics Agent.

But not all frozen foods that are thawed need to be thrown away. If the frozen food package still contains some ice crystals or it is very cold (about 40 degrees) it may safely be refrozen.

Mrs. Jones says this doesn't help the quality of the food any, but it will be safe to eat.

Mrs. Jones advises to be especially careful with meat and poultry because they can become unsafe to eat. Often, an odor about meat or poultry will tell you it's not safe to refreeze it. But, that's not the case for vegetables and cooked foods. Even fish and shellfish can

On The Consumer's Side

QUESTION:

I would like to inquire about a "bargain" offer I received in the mail. The company in North Carolina sent an order blank and information offering "Globe" cigarettes at $3.75 per carton. The leaflet stated that "6 or more cartons could be purchased at $3.75," and that "federal and North Carolina taxes were paid." This just doesn't seem right to me and I wondered if it was legal?

ANSWER: This practice, while not illegitimate is quite deceptive. According to the Department of Business Regulation, Division of Beverage, companies like the one you heard from are sending these order blanks to many Florida citizens. The problem that arises is that the North Carolina firm fails to tell people that:

1. Florida excise tax is applicable and runs a $1.17 per pack or $1.70 per carton.

2. Firms out of state that sell cigarettes in Florida must submit lists of buyers to the Florida Department of Business Regulation.

3. Consumers are then billed by the Division of Beverage for the full amount of excise tax due. Unfortunately this

Training completed

PL. Sill, Okla. (AHTN) Sept. 17 - Army Private Michael C. Sheahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melville T. Sheahan of 100 SE Fifth St. N. in Belle Glade recently completed training as a cannister under the One Station Unit Training (OSUT) Program at Ft. Sill, Okla.

Students learned the duties of a nowitzer of gun section crewman and received instruction in handling ammunition, setting fuses and preparing charges, communications and maintenance.

Pvt. Sheahan is a 1973 graduate of Glades Central High School in Belle Glade. His wife, Private Deborah L. Sheahan, is stationed at Ft. Jackson, S.C.

Recycling unit here every Thurs.

After collecting 8,750 pounds of aluminum last month from the Belle Glade area, Reynolds Aluminum's mobile recycling unit has four stops scheduled during October. The public will receive 15

peeps a pound for their all-aluminum cans and other clean household aluminum every Thursday from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at City Park, 500 W. Canal St.

"Once it is produced, aluminum becomes an Energy Bank, because aluminum does not deteriorate, and recycling it for re-use requires less than 5 per cent of the energy used to make the aluminum originally," according to Dave Vardell, Reynolds District Manager for aluminum recycling.

This 95 per cent energy saving makes every aluminum can an Energy Bank - energy that is saved over and over again, each time the metal is recycled.

"And, because of aluminum's high scrap value, the aluminum can is less likely than other containers to be littered or thrown away, and more likely to be picked up or saved for recycling," Vardell added.

Child Abuse

Child abuse is a major problem. More than 126,000 children have been reported as abused or neglected in Florida since October 1971 when the legislative revision of the child abuse statute became effective. The state has, perhaps, the most advanced system for reporting and follow-up of abuse.

A portion of the revised law requires the reporting of child abuse by physicians, nurses, teachers, social workers and employees who serve children in public or private facilities. The Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services is responsible for implementing the law.

The child abuse registry includes a toll-free reporting system manned by social workers who are familiar with the resources to help the abused child. The telephone number is 800-343-8152. It is usually listed among the emergency numbers in all Florida telephone directories.

When a call is received in the central office the social worker checks the files for any previous report of abuse to the particular child and as soon as possible contacts a child protective service worker in the county where the child lives. Each complaint is investigated immediately. There are some 230 trained staff members serving in the state's 67 counties. One is on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week in each county.

Protective service workers report that neglect is the "per form of abuse. The states that abuse or neglect includes any willful or negligent acts which result in neglect, malnutrition, sexual abuse, unreasonable physical injury, material endangerment of mental health, and failure to provide sustenance, clothing, shelter or medical attention.

GOLDCOAST GARDENER

With our weather beginning to get a little cooler with the onset of autumn, many homeowners in gardening to vegetable garden also are interested in planting strawberries. Here in our area usually October and November is the best time to begin planting strawberries and most garden supply stores or outlets that sell plants will have strawberry plants available the first part of October.

There is not a great deal of variety in the kinds of strawberries that can be raised successfully since we have a high amount of problems associated with growing them. Florida 90 has long been the best variety for our area but recently two new varieties, "Toga" and "Sequoia", have become available. Both these varieties are better tasting probably than Florida 90 but they are unfortunately in short supply in many areas of the state. It is not recommended that northern varieties or varieties obtained from out of state sources be planted because many of these are not resistant to our local diseases and do not produce enough berries to make their cultivation worth while.

In planting strawberries you should plant them in full sun in a rich, well-drained soil. If the soil is especially sandy it should be enriched with organic matter such as peat moss, manures or compost. Make sure that the drainage is very excellent and if you have any doubts the strawberries should be planted on small raised, four to six inches high, beds.

Since most people will buy their plants, it is important that they be set in the ground properly. Plant them so that the crowns are even with the surface of the soil and make sure that the soil is packed firmly around the plants. If not you may have air pockets formed which would allow the roots to dry out. In no cases should you cover the bud or crown of the plant since this invariably leads to a rot and to loss of the plant.

After the plants have been planted and gotten established, many times it is beneficial to mulch them and the beds to keep the berries clean, to conserve moisture and prevent weed growth. Any type material may be used as a mulch but the most common materials would be grass clippings, leaves, pine needles or even black plastic.

During the growing season it is desirable to make two or three applications of a fertilizer such as a 4-8-8 or 6-6-6 at the rate of two to five pounds per 100 square feet. Part of the application may be broadcast over the entire area before planting if desired.

It is also desirable to treat for nematodes before planting strawberries to reduce damage to the root system caused by their feeding. Several types of nematodes are usually available from your local garden supply stores and these are very effective when applied according to directions.

After the plants are growing it is usually desirable to apply the fertilizer in a narrow band on either side of the plants.

There are several types of insects and diseases that attack strawberries and these can be controlled if caught in the early stages.

The most serious disease is a rot of the root or crown. Regular sprays of fungicides such as Caplan, Benlate or Copper will help prevent these diseases. Insects may occasionally attack the foliage and the berries. For mite control Kelthane is satisfactory and for the other types of problems Malathion or Dieldrin usually give effective control.

It is also desirable to treat for nematodes before planting strawberries to reduce damage to the root system caused by their feeding. Several types of nematodes are usually available from your local garden supply stores and these are very effective when applied according to directions.

It's Only Your MONEY

"Running the Family Business"

By GERALD A. LEWIS
Comptroller of Florida

Regardless of how much money they make, most American families have experienced the pain of budget headaches. Since "letting things ride" is no solution, it is for more practical to learn to cope with the problem of cutting back on household expenses.

For instance, more and more people are discovering that it makes sense to "comparison shop". In a test case, when two shoppers were sent out to buy the same items, one compared prices while the other picked up the handiest item. The comparison shopper spent $25.12; the non-comparison shopper spent $36.30. A difference of $11.18 a week can add up to big savings at the end of the month.

It's also smart to be aware of interest rates—both the ones you receive from savings and the ones you pay out on loans.

Many families, in attempting to cope with economic limitations, allow their financial situation to become too complicated. They might have charge accounts at various department stores, a retail contract on an appliance and an auto loan. In short, they over extend themselves. The most practical rule of thumb is to do as much credit business as possible with one institution. This discipline will keep you from charging too many items in too many different places. It will also allow you to build a good business relationship with one creditor and the more good business a company does with you, the more they can do for you.

Something many people overlook is the safekeeping of their financial documents. This includes insurance policies, contracts, mortgages, and, of course, a will. When you need access to these papers, it's nice to know exactly where to find them.

Finally, setting financial goals which you can live with is the most realistic approach to better money management. And cutting expenses wherever possible will make running "the family business" a little easier. (AFNS)

Miss Altman was one of 1,059 students to receive a bachelor's degree.

Vets may be making unneeded payments

ST. PETERSBURG—Some veterans may be making unnecessary premium payments on their National Service Life Insurance policies according to W. B. Mackall, Director, Florida's Division of Veterans Affairs under the Department of Community Affairs. All NSLI policies provide for a waiver of premiums in the situation in which the policyholder becomes totally disabled. To qualify for a waiver of premiums, a veteran must have a total disability which has existed for six or more months and commenced prior to his 60th birthday. Additionally, this six months period must begin after the insurance has been applied for and the policy must be on a premium paying basis during that period.

Waiver of premiums is not granted automatically. The insured, or someone acting on his behalf, must make an application for the waiver. If the insured died without filing a claim for waiver of premiums, proof of total disability and the claim must be filed by the principle beneficiary within one year after the insured's death. Refunds of premiums already paid are usually limited to one year prior to the filing of the claim.

For insurance purposes, "total disability" means that there is an impairment of mind or body which continuously prevents the veteran from gaining meaningful employment.

For additional information or application forms, veterans should contact their local County Veterans Service Office, any office of the Veterans Administration or write to Mackall (including your claim number, Birth date and Service number), Post Office Box 1437, St. Petersburg 33731.

VOICE of the PEOPLE

By BRUCE A. SMATHERS
Florida Secretary of State

Time continues to run out on the approaching elections—the time when America chooses its future local, state and national leaders.

Florida's big dates remaining are the September 18 primary and the November 2 General Election.

I am going to continue all possible efforts to encourage as many people as will listen and heed, to register to vote, and then to make the full commitment to citizenship by voting.

This effort of my office will reach a high point during September when I plan to visit major population centers and relay the message to citizens about the need to register in their respective areas.

This campaign began last week, starting in Panama City and Pensacola. It has always been a pleasure to travel in the Panhandle and I have found citizens responsive to calls for participation and concern. The remaining schedule will carry the voter registration campaign to: Gainesville, Palatka, St. Augustine — September 13 Jacksonville, Orange Park — September 14 Tallahassee — September 15

Miami — September 16 West Palm Beach, Fort Pierce, Titusville — September 17

In addition, we are contacting all high school principals, community college and university presidents using them to assist in the setting up of voter registration booths.

Special posters, supplied by Honeywell Corporation free of charge to the state, are being mailed out by the thousands. For example, Associated Industries of Florida has graciously agreed to send the posters, which promote voting, to chain stores throughout the state.

In all, if the drive is successful, the voice of the people could be potentially more powerful than when we started and in this Bicentennial Year we need for the people to speak out. (AFNS)

Rissler named to Christian Science publications post

Michael D. Rissler of St. Petersburg has been appointed to serve as the new Christian Science Committee on Publication for Florida. His appointment begins Oct. 1. The Committee on Publication officially represents the Christian Science Church in the state in its relations with public officials, the media, and other groups.

Ray K. Bottorff, after ten years of distinguished service, declined reappointment to the position and will return to his former home of Sarasota. There he will continue in the public practice of Christian Science healing.

The new appointee, though a native of Indiana, moved with his family to St. Petersburg while a young child. Educated in the public schools, he graduated from Boca Ciega High School and St. Petersburg Junior College.

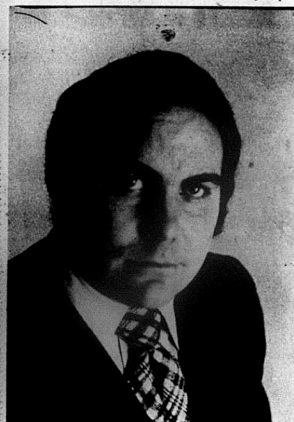

After receiving his Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Florida, he studied for three years at Boston University. There he received the Master of Theology degree in order to serve as a chaplain in the United States Army.

Though not having an ordained clergy in the Christian Science Church, Christian Scientists have served as chaplains in the military services since the first world war.

Rissler resigned his commission in the Army in order to return to the full-time practice of Christian Science healing in 1975. In addition to his experience in the practice of Christian Science and the military chaplaincy, Rissler has also worked extensively in the prison ministry of the Christian Science Church.

Rissler, his wife Julia, and son David have moved to Tallahassee where the Committee's office is located in the Barnett Bank Building.

HOW POLARIS® CAN IMPROVE SUGAR MILL EFFICIENCY.

The amount of raw sugar that goes out of your mill is influenced greatly by the quality of cane that comes in. Better quality cane can improve your mill efficiency.

One new way Florida growers are delivering better quality cane is with Polaris® Plant Growth Regulator by Monsanto, the chemical that stimulates sugar cane ripening.

In 1975, Polaris improved pol an average of 1.42 points and purity an average of 1.45 points. Because of improved leaf desiccation, cane treated with Polaris normally burns better.

To learn more about how Polaris can help your growers deliver higher quality cane, contact your Monsanto representative or the distributor for Polaris in your area for the full details.

As with all agricultural products, always read and follow the Polaris label.

A SAFE INVESTMENT

A lot of money goes up in smoke every year as nearly 100,000 fires occur in American business establishments. Fires cost this country over $2 billion annually and all too frequently, lives are lost as well.

Fortunately, there are some smart businessmen who are working on ways to avoid such incendiary incidents. They know that one thing every fire prevention agency wants against is setting a lot of paper pile up. Since most businesses couldn't run well without using plenty of paper-plus equally inflammable files, tabs and indexes-they have found a safe replacement for these piles of paper: microfilm.

Microfilm is a high resolution film containing an image greatly reduced in size from the original. Just one cartridge of microfilm can be used to replace about 2,000 pages of printed material or photographs. The Bible can be fitted onto one ultrathin slide. Then, the entire microfilm record can be kept in a small, fire-

DEFENDING THE FLAG

The U.S. Marines helped to defend the flag in the sea fight between the Bon Homme and the Scrap, September 23, 1779, when John Paul Jones made his defiant retort: "I have not yet begun to fight," according to the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve.

Marines carried the Stars and Stripes to the "Shores of Tripoli" where it was hoisted at Derna, April 27, 1805, the first time our flag was flown over a fortress of the Old World. The Marines also took part in the defense of Fort McHenry during the night of September 13, 1814, where, on the following morning, our flag inspired Francis Scott Key to write the Star-Spangled Banner.
